OCTOBER 7-9, 2025, LOUISVILLE KY

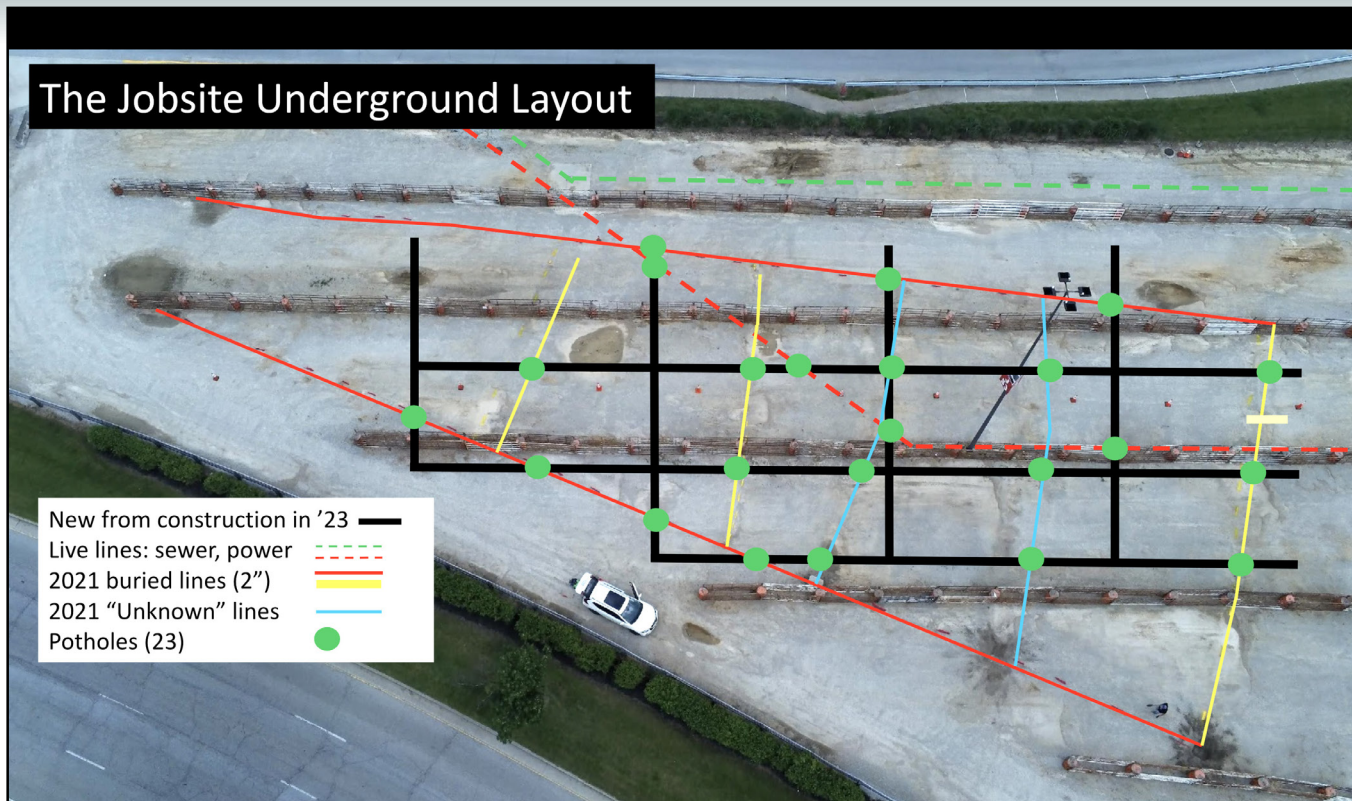

Planet Underground is returning to The Utility Expo once again to host The Jobsite in 2025, and now that we have installed over 1000 feet of buried pipe in our area plus 12 handholes, we are confident in calling this a real Jobsite!

Our area is perfect for companies who locate underground utilities—whether that be with EM locators, GPR, SUE, vacuum excavation or even heavy machinery, because what better chance is there to demo your product on what is essentially a real jobsite? Not to mention, this “jobsite” is at a trade show with 21,000+ attendees! And, since our area is meant to be educational through demonstration, AEM will be bringing their highly popular “walking classrooms” for a tour of The Jobsite. Here classroom participants can see presentations from various sponsors on their products and services.

United Rentals will be our “Generator Sponsor” once again this year, so every sponsoring company will have power for their individual tents. Sponsorship also comes with the option for Planet Underground to produce a video of your company at the show. So come demo your new products, technologies, and services at the most unique utility trade show experience in the world...The Jobsite!
